Dear Ayotunde,

Re: Miss Elizabeth MANN
534 Craven Road, Tatura VIC 3616

DOB: 13.05.1972

I have seen Elizabeth today. After she had the Pfizer injection she has been getting ongoing chest pain and feeling unwell. She had been a well lady before that. There is no significant family history as such. She is a nonsmoker, I have done a stress echo study in view of this ongoing pain and took the heart rate from 55 to 110 and there was no evidence of reversible ischemia shown. It was a limited study by the fact that the ejection fraction is marginally reduced and there is a possibility that she has a degree of myocarditis. Considering all factors together in spite of not having pericardial fluid that I could see, it is possible that this lady has ongoing pericarditis and mild myocarditis. In view of that I have given her Colchicine 500mcg 1 twice a day and I will review her in a months' time and repeat the echo and see how things go. Will keep you informed.

Thank you for involving me in this patient's medical care.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Nihal Nanayakkara (Nana)

P.S. She requested for exemption clearance for a period. I went through the exemption document and on the criteria written on the document she does not qualify for it.

STRESS ELECTROCARDIOGRAPHY REPORT

Indications: To rule out reversible ischaemia.

Procedure: Patient was exercised to a maximum heart rate of 115. Resting rate was 55. Duration of exercise was 3 and 55 seconds and 6.1 METS were used.

Findings: No additional pain was provoked and no arrhythmias were seen and the blood pressure response was adequate. No ST depression of any significant degree was seen either.

Impression: Is that there is no evidence of reversible ischaemia shown on this limited stress echo study.

Signed;

Dr Nihal Nanayakkara

REPORT: The parameters are as above which is showing a normal size left ventricle and the overall ejection fraction is about 50% marginally reduced. Colour flow shows mild to moderate mitral and mild tricuspid incompetence. No pericardial effusion is seen. Pulmonary artery systolic pressure calculated by tricuspid incompetence flow comes to about 30. Patient was exercised to a maximum heart rate of 115. Resting rate was 55. Duration of exercise was 3 and 55 seconds and 6.1 METS were used. No further pain was provoked and no arrhythmias were seen and the blood pressure response was adequate. Four post stress views were taken at this velocity and compared with pre stress views. No additional wall motion was seen signifying no reversible ischemia on this limited stress echo study.

Thank you for involving me in this patient's medical care.
