1/2 Scanner, David, I didn't question it

I had doubts but didn't believe his reason.

? Issue

I hate myself for continuing 1/2 the scan.

Tend to ignore own doubts; it's easier to ignore them.

So don't have to go through emotional pain.

Because I've always doubted my ability to do certain things + have low self-esteem + confidence + think I'm being paranoid, so don't know whether to trust my instincts

Even in my kids I think of I haven't heard from them,
I've done something; not lived up to their expectations
Sometimes if I know I'm right, won't say it to avoid conflict.
